Floralwood Daylilies

NEW INTRODUCTIONS FROM MRS. BACH

We have ten new introductions from Mrs. Bach of Bloomington, Ill., this year and each one is a masterpiece in every respect. Her 1953 introductions, such as Myrande, Snowy Egret and Alice, are fast taking their places among the very finest in America today.

ALBATROSS: One of the finest very pale yellows that we have every grown, a sister seedling of Snowy Egret and a larger more open flower, and we like it equally as well. The flower is a self and very ruffled and crimped, a mid-season bloomer, fast increaser in contrast to Snow Egret, 48 inches tall and a husky plant. Net. $15.00

BESS FOREMAN: A collector's dream in pink and cream, petals a medium pink with cream sepals. Not a large flower but very dainty and a heavy bloomer and increases fast, 48 inches tall, blooms early and again late, one of the finest in bicolors. Net. $8.00

DAWNSON: A color break in a bright red that is nearly an ever bloomer here. A fast increaser, 44 inches tall, blooming early and right through the season. Has a yellow throat which extends up through the petals, giving a star-like appearance. Net. $8.00

DOROTHY PARKER: A grand new tall cream yellow that should be in every background planting. A light self that grows 60 inches in height and an excellent grower in every respect. The bloom is very large, giving a very showy effect. Net. $6.00

HARRIET KNUDSON: Here is a bright spot for any garden, a rich orange flower with red brush marks on the petals, 44 inches tall, a mid season bloomer and a husky plant. Net. $8.00

HAWTHORNE ROSE: Possibly Mrs. Bach's best introduction to date and this one will be among the top ones before long. A color break of rosy purple on the deep lavender side with a golden throat which extends up through the petals as a midrib. Flowers not large but a profuse bloomer, 40 inches tall and the plant is a rampant grower making a colorful clump in short time. A most beautiful plant when grown. Net. $25.00

Dr. Corliss comments on Hawthorne Rose: "Absolutely unique and should rate with the top ten daylilies today. Developed in Illinois, it thrives in my desert garden, the form, color and texture is tops."

IONE: A bicolor of great beauty and one that fits well in any color scheme. The color is outstanding, petals a rich orange and sepals a saddle brown, a large flower that opens wide, a fast grower and prolific bloomer. A great companion flower with Harriet Knudson. 46 inches. Net. $10.00

KING DAVID: A large wide open flower of medium yellow with pointed petals and sepals, 48 inches tall, a prolific bloomer and increaser, a must have in the mediums. Net. $10.00

LADY IRENE: One of the finest additions to the spider class that we have ever seen. A beautiful wide open flower in rich creamy yellow, petals and sepals whorled and twisted as seen in some orchids. Truly an orchid-like bloom in every way and one that will certainly go places when known. Visitors are greatly attracted by this one. Net. $20.00

PINK SUNRISE: A fine pink and white combination that has great merit. A very early pink to go with those lilies and delphiniums in early spring. A large flower that opens wide, a fast increaser and all-round good grower. We like this one very much. Net. $6.00

For Iris Fans Only

Last year we introduced two great iris, Arlene Wood and Jane Hofford, and these two have proved themselves through out the country as most outstanding. This year we are introducing one of the finest pinks we have ever seen and the extreme height makes this iris invaluable as a background subject. Tommy's Pink is a large flowered well branched iris that gives a very showy effect.

TOMMY'S PINK: 60". A grand flower of smooth pink, falls and standards being identical in color, a clean haft with a clear tangerine beard. Foliage broad and high and increases fast. Garden visitors claim this one of the finest pinks they have ever seen. Net. $10.00

ARLENE WOOD: 1953. The heaviest ruffled iris to date in dove orchid standards and a clean lilac orchid in the falls, a tightly closed dome. A very clean haft and beard of soft lemon. This iris has been acclaimed by many iris judges as the very best in the class. The bloom is very large and the branching is excellent. Net. $6.00

JANE HOFFORD: 1953. The exact counterpart of Arlene Wood in size and form, the only difference being in color which is a full rich cream in the standards and falls of creamy yellow trimmed in lemon. A very clean haft and a matching beard of lemon. A very heavy ruffled iris and one that is sure to please. Net. $6.00

AGAIN we repeat, if any of the above iris does not come up to your expectations we shall be glad to give you credit for the amount paid in any items from our general listing of daylilies.

DAYLILY CULTURE

The daylily has been called the "lazy man's flower" by many but this is only partially correct. It is true that you may have success in any kind of soil and under most any condition, but, with a little extra care, you may have the very finest in large and colorful bloom.

Any good barnyard manure worked in around your plants in the fall is beneficial but be wary of using a large amount of commercial fertilizers as the daylily does not seem to absorb them as some plants do.

If you live in a zone of hard winters and icy coverings during the dormant period, would suggest that you do your planting in the spring by all means to eliminate winter loss. Allow your plants to form large clumps for beautiful effects, and when you do make divisions, do not plant huge divisions as they seem to sulk when so planted. Keep them well watered when planted until they are well established.

Some varieties do not show their best in bloom for the first year and for this reason should not be closely judged until they are well established.
